

INTRODUCTION TO CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY (ANT 102) & ENGLISH COMPOSITION II (EGL 102)

Campus: Skokie

COURSES:

ANT-102-25H (CRN:12109)

Tuesday & Thursday, 9:30-10:45am

EGL-102-25H (CRN:12110)

Tuesday & Thursday, 11-12:15pm

Benefits:

- A learning community combines ANT 102 with EGL 102 and is co-taught by two instructors!
- Satisfies Gen Ed. requirements: Area A (Communication) & Area D (Social & Behavioral Science)
- Persistence Project Courses

Why ANT 102 & EGL 102?

This learning community will introduce students to the diversity of cultural systems throughout the world with a special emphasis on social justice and environmental justice issues as analyzed through the intersectional lenses of ethnicity, race, gender, and cultural identity

About ANT 102

ANT 102 is specifically designed to expose students to the varied ways people live today and to trace the historical, political, and global developments that impact cultural change, particularly in regards to indigenous and marginalized communities.

About EGL 102

EGL 102 strengthens student strategies for planning, writing, and revising research-based essays, which includes critical reading and analysis, the structure of argument, and the use of sources. In this Learning Community, we will place special emphasis on globalization, racial justice, and gender

